By Dennis Eames
When you have to grow to live, it makes a difference. Easy instructions, well written and great pictures. Already have it dog eared and lit up with highlighter.

Much like the do-it-yourself pocket guides that make home improvement seem unintimidating, Marijuana Made Simple walks the reader through every single step of growing, using no-nonsense language and easy-to-follow instructions. Each step is supported by illustrative photos and the many photo essays make this book a complete resource; everything readers need to have a successful home grow is covered. Designed for the absolute beginner as well as those looking to simplify their grow while increasing production, Marijuana Made Simple isn't cluttered with extraneous information. From building a grow room and choosing a strain to creating a mother plant and the easiest way to harvest, Mediman covers all the necessary aspects of cannabis cultivation in an accessible and informative way. He focuses on the different ways to use medical marijuana and how to choose the method and strain to suit a particular problem, making this an indispensable guide for medical marijuana users and suppliers alike.

About the Author
Mediman is a card-carrying legal marijuana grower and a passionate advocate for medical marijuana use. Mediman has been growing for over a decade and, in 2009, won the Toronto Cannabis Cup. Having battled terminal illness for almost a decade and survived a situation that he attributes solely to his marijuana use, he has developed a foolproof indoor growing method to support his daily use entirely from two crops a year.
