I do agree with the other reviewer - this book does not contain exhaustive instructions on how to accomplish certain styles of lettering. Instead, it showcases various artists, a few lettering styles, and some ideas for activities. The first book is similar. Since I own the first book, I wasn't disappointed by the content in this one. It was exactly what I expected, and I was pleasantly surprised by the list of contributors. The first two are artist-teachers that I already follow. I actually think I like this book better. Since I couldn't find a list of contributors online, I thought I'd list them here in case it's useful to others:- Lisa Congdon- Lindsey Bugbee- April Nemeth- Leandro Senna- Megan Wells- Diane Henkler- Roann Mathias- Kerri Winterstein- Kristine Lombardi- Alexandra Snowdon- Jenny Sweeney- Deborah Gerwig Powell- Rosaura Unangst- Michael Mullan- Jenny Doh (editor and contributor) 14 of 15 people found the following review helpful. Somewhat Disappointing... By Tag Jones This book is not instructive. It gives examples but doesn't tell HOW to create the letters. It's OK for reference and has a few full alphabets. Overall I'm a bit disappointed with it. 5 of 5 people found the following review helpful. Better than the first Creative Lettering book!By Ria CThis is better than the first one. I like this book a lot because of the colourful graphics and representations of various letterings and calligraphy. It is a good source of inspiration and reference. Definitely a must have!

Creative Lettering was so popular that crafters wanted MORE. Welcome this fabulous follow-up to that bestselling book, featuring 15 entirely new contributors. Jenny Doh has gathered a variety of big names and talented up-and-coming artists, who all provide tips on their favorite forms on hand lettering and tools, along with complete alphabets and how-to projects based on their signature styles. With everything from posters and cards to signs, collages, and journals, this eye-catching collection will inspire readers as they create their own, personalized work.
